This morning we will have partly cloudy skies. In the afternoon they will be partly sunny. We actually don't know the difference between those two. Have a nice day.

Sports Roundup

Stewardville High School is looking for a new PE Coach. Qualifications include proficiency at riding a pogo stick, ability to catch a boomerang in their mouth, experience running away from bears, and no fear of skydiving. All applicants please apply at Stewardville Memorial Hospital.

There are not many things in this world that a person can truly own. But our emotions are one of them. The interesting thing about emotions is that you can choose whether you want to keep them all to yourself, or you can share them with others. The more that you share your emotions with other people, the better they get to know you. Herein lays a potential problem. Psalms 86:15 describes how God is with His emotions and how He wants us to be with our emotions as well. It says, "But You, O Lord, are a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger and abundant in lovingkindness and truth." What an awesome God! Is that the way that your family and your closest friends would describe you? People will often give excuses for not controlling their emotions better. "Oh, I was born this way. I can't control myself." God is able to help us in all situations, including controlling our emotions. God needs you to be a good steward of your emotions.
